IT'S TUCKER'S COUNTING RULE

One Agreed Upon by the Caucus Originated with a Virginia Member.

IT IS FAVORED BY OUR CONGRESSMEN

Mr. Wise's Committee Fully Occupied...Mr. Cleveland Promises to be Present at the Unveiling Next Month.

TIMES BUREAU, RAPLEY BUILDING, | WASHINGTON, April 14, 1894.

The adoption by the Democratic caucus of a rule for counting a quorum is genthe majority, the only comment being upon the length of time which it took them to realize into what a pitiable etate of inactivity they were constantly being placed by a few disaffected Democrats, and the willy leaders among the erats who have always favored such a who hesitated about its adopbut the cases are entirely different, and even further, the matter of counting a guerum did not originate with Mr. Reed. So was first offered in the Forty-fifth Cogress by Hon. J. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, and was afterwards put into elecution by Lieuterant-Governor David B. Hill in the State Senate of New York, when he was its prositing officer. The fact that Mr. Tucker first introduced this rule in Congress is now a matter of record, and although the support of the work of transferring it to marble. The work exhibits in every particular the traces of a true artist's hand. It is graceful in pose, and full of suggestions of the spirit which animated the subject. The figure is a little over life-size. The left foot is slightly advanced the walch. Congress is now a matter of record, and although the present rule is offered by Congressman Springer, of Illinois, it is already known, and will be recognized in the House as the "Tucker rule."

OUR MEMBERS PAVOR IT.

The Virginia congressmen were a unit in layor of the rule, except the represen-tative of the Fourth district, and Messra. Grady and Crawford were the only oppo-nents it found in the North Carolina agressman Harry Tucker says of it:

"This rule proposes the method, not of in his hand, counting, but of ascertaining a quorum.

Democratic legislation by obstructive measures we have the right under the Constitution, and it is our duty, to prevent it. Mr. Reed arbitrarily counted a quorum when there was no rule for it, though the House had the power to make it, and he had the audacity in justifying his position to refer to this proposed rule in the Forty-fifth Congress. In short he sought to justify his action for counting a quorum without a rule by citing a precedent that required a rule to do what he did without the rule. Congressman Jones heartily approves of the rule, and had prepared a resolu-If the Republicans propose to defeat of the rule, and had prepared a resolu-tion embracing a similar proposition for presentation to the caucus, which even went further than the one adopted in its provisions for compelling the mem-bers of the majority party to be present bers of the majority party to be present and participate in the proceedings of the House. He not only believes that the law providing for the imposition of fine upon members absent without leave should be rigidly enforced, but believes that recalcierant members should be arraigned at the bar of public opinion, and that by an edict of the caucus their names should be reported to their constituencies. This latter would seem a names should be reported to their con-stituencies. This latter would seem a harsh measure, but would certainly have the effect of compelling the presence of members who have so stubbonly resisted the patriotic appeals of the Speaker and those of their colleagues, who are mak-ing every sacrifice of their private in-trests to advance the legislation which was so solemnly pledged by the Demo-cratic party in its Chicago platform, and cratic party in its Chicago platform, and afterwards from the stump during the last presidential campaign.

MARY WASHINGTON MONUMENT.

Congressing Meredith also called on the President and Secretaries Gresham and Herbert this morning and delivered for the committee the invitations to the dedication of the Mary Washington monument, which will take place in Fredericksburg, Va., on May the 10th.
